The musical score consists of seven systems of two staves each. The top staff of each system contains the melody, and the bottom staff contains red neumes. The lyrics are written below the neumes. The first system begins with a large 'A' and the word 'Alleluia'. The second system begins with 'V. Veni Sancte Spiritus'. The third system begins with 'reple tuorum corda fidelium'. The fourth system begins with 'et tua amoris'. The fifth system begins with 'in eis ignem accende'. The sixth system is a continuation of the melody. The seventh system is a final continuation of the melody.

Viens, Esprit Saint, remplis les cœurs de tes fidèles et allume en eux le feu de ton amour.
